DETAILED ACTION

EXAMINER'S AMENDMENT

1. An extension of time under 37 CFR 1.136(a) is required in order to make an examiner's amendment which places this application in condition for allowance. During a telephone conversation conducted on January 11, 2006, Nancy Krawczyk requested an extension of time for 1 MONTH(S) and authorized the Director to charge Deposit Account No. 07-1725 the required fee of $120.00 for this extension and authorized the following examiner's amendment. Should the changes and/or additions be unacceptable to applicant, an amendment may be filed as provided by 37 CFR 1.312. To ensure consideration of such an amendment, it MUST be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee.

The application has been amended as follows:

In the claims:

Claim 6, Line 6: the word --molded-- is inserted before the word "axial".

2. Claims 2-7 (renumbered 1-6) are allowed.

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

While not conventional, it is known to form a wheel assembly in which the tire has a molded axial bead width that is less than or equal to the rim distance (distance between junctions defined by intersection of rim flange and bead seat). One example of such a construction is Tokutake (US 5,117,886). In this instance, the smaller axial bead width contributes to an improvement in cornering power/vehicle turning performance. The claims, on the other hand, are directed to a runflat tire construction having a pair of sidewall reinforcing inserts and the above noted bead/rim arrangement. As shown for example by Sandstrom (US 6,230,773), the general concept of including sidewall reinforcing inserts to form a runflat tire construction is known in the tire industry. However, "runflat" tire constructions are designed to operate over an extended period of time in an underinflated condition (otherwise known as EMT or extended mobility tires) and in such instances, the tire relies on strong forces to remain seated on the rim. These forces are obtained by forming the tire with a larger axial bead width than the rim width and subsequently mounting the tire on the rim, in which case the tire bead regions push out against the associated rim portions and provide a high degree of securement. Thus, while the general concept of runflat tires is known in the tire industry, there is not a reasonable expectation of success in forming the tire of Tokutake as a runflat tire- one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention would not have expected the tire of Tokutake, modified with Sandstrom, to provide suitable runflat characteristics in accordance to the standards of the tire industry.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
